Undergraduate Courses

Bachelor:
The bachelor is the first academic degree, which generally can be finished after six semesters of academic studies. Moreover, it is a first professional-qualifying degree. There is a difference between the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and the Bachelor of Science (B.Sc.). The six semester (= 3 years) course of study is composed of three to four semesters of basic studies (stage I studies) and two to three semesters of in-depth studies (stage II studies). For the B.A., either one major and two minors or two majors are studied. For the B.Sc., the emphasis is on the study of one subject only.

For the combination of subjects (B.A.) please note: In case one of your subjects has a restriction of permission and the other one does not, you will still get a negative reply for the whole combination, if you are rejected for the subject with restriction of permission.

Staatsexamen:
For the Staatsexamen, the state officially acts as the examiner. Upon its completion, one finishes the degree programme in medicine, law, pharmacy, and teaching. Depending on the subject, the standard period of study averages between eight and twelve semesters. The training and examinations are standardized statewide and nationwide. Training is concluded at the university with the first Staatsexamen. For lawyers and teachers, the traineeship that takes place outside of the university is completed with a second Staatsexamen. This list does not contain any teacher training programs. If you are interested in these programs, please seek advice from the International Office.

Information online:
An overview of the subjects offered at the University of Regensburg as well as detailed information on each subject can be found on the following homepage (only in German):
http://www.uni-regensburg.de/studium/studentenkanzlei/studienangebot/index.html

Information about German language certificates and DSH
For most fields of study, a German language test, the DSH, needs to be taken before you can start the program. Usually a result of DSH2 is required to enroll. For several fields of study, a DSH test result of DSH1 suffices. Please see the section “Special Features” for more information.

a) Restriction of Admission

Degree courses with restriction of admission only have a limited number of places. Therefore, the university selects those candidates from all applicants that are especially qualified. The decision is based on the grades of the secondary school or college/university certificate.

b) Aptitude Test
Some degree courses require an aptitude test that needs to be passed successfully before the semester starts. This is a pre-requisite for enrollment. For some aptitude tests you need to register in advance. Please contact the respective faculty or the International Office in time.

c) Elective Minor (=Frei Kombinierbares Nebenfach, FKN)
In addition to the B.A. tracks already mentioned, an „elective minor studies“ track can be taken, which is designed to support non-traditional, interdisciplinary and project-oriented courses of study. Here students design their own minor by combining any two „study units“ (Studieneinheiten). More in-depth information about course work and assessment can be found on the university homepage under each of the respective study units:

http://www.uni-regensburg.de/studium/koordinierungsstelle-leistungspunkte/  →  FKN

Foreign Language Requirements
Some degree courses (such as French Language and Literature) expect candidates to have language skills in the desired field/ language. Therefore, you will have to take a language aptitude test. However, other language and literature programs exist - like Italian, Spanish and Russian - where candidates are not required to have any experience of studying these languages. Here, you will have the opportunity to learn the basics of the respective language in special preparation classes shortly before the program starts.

Proficiency in Latin is a requirement for some degree courses that you have to give proof of during your studies (History, Archaeology, Musicology, Greek Language and Literature). If you cannot prove the Latin level required or if you have not studied Latin before, you can acquire the necessary Latin skills during courses at the university. Please schedule an extra semester for the acquisition of Latin. The International Office or the advisory services will tell you whether Latin is mandatory for your field of studies.

Advisory Services
When selecting a subject to study, it is highly recommended to consult the Central Department for Course Counseling (Zentrale Studienberatung) and the program’s academic advisor (Fachstudienberater). For an overview on all advisory services at the University of Regensburg, please see:

http://www.uni-regensburg.de  →  Studium  →  Studienberatung (German website)

For additional information on certain subjects you can contact the advisor for the subject to be studied (Fachstudienberater) or research on the webpages of the individual faculties and on the webpage “Studienangebot”

Fächerangebot der Universität Regensburg

Graduate Courses (Master)

The master course is a graduate degree program that generally lasts four semesters. Prerequisite for acceptance into a master’s program is the completion of a bachelor degree or an academic certificate of equal worth. Examination rules regulate which degree courses (majors) or bachelor degrees will be approved as prerequisites for admission into the respective master’s program. There is a difference between the Master of Arts (M.A.) and the Master of Science (M.Sc.). Only one subject is studied in a master’s program (e.g. no combination of subjects).

Selection Process:
A selection process takes place for every master degree program, in which the respective institute decides on the formal and qualitative eligibility of the applicant. The decision on admission is usually taken on the basis of the written application documents (without interview or test) by every institute independently. Therefore, the application documents must be directed to the corresponding institute.

Information online:
An overview of the subjects offered at the University of Regensburg as well as detailed information on each subject (including the most important links) can be found on the following homepage (only in German):

Information about German language certificates and DSH
For most fields of study, a German language test, the DSH, needs to be taken before you can start the program. Usually a result of DSH2 is required to enroll. For several fields of study, a DSH test result of DSH1 suffices or you may not need to take a German language test at all if the area of study is taught in English.
