Information on canceling registrations (withdrawing) from first attempts at examinations

You can cancel a registration (withdraw) for any exam five days or more before it takes place without giving grounds.

➤ You can cancel the registration yourself via FlexNow, you do not need to make an application.

Withdrawing after this time, or on the day of the exam, requires you to make an application and give grounds (for example a doctor's note).

Please note the information sheet on what to do when you cannot take an examination due to illness.

Note:

If the registration is not canceled in time (i.e. you do not withdraw in time), the examination will be graded as "did not attend" (Versäumnis) and thus failed.
