Universität Regensburg
Faculty of Languages, Literature, and Cultures invites applications for a junior professorship of Digital Humanities (grade W1 with tenure-track leading to W2) for a period of three years in the first phase with the legal status of temporary civil servant (Beamtenverhältnis auf Zeit), to be appointed as soon as possible. The tenure-track professorship is supported by the Federal/Länder program for the promotion of young scientists (tenure-track program). The program aims to forge transparent paths for young academics so they can plan their progression to professorships. For this reason, we explicitly encourage applications from young academics who have only recently achieved their doctorates. We are looking for a highly qualified scientist with an innovative scientific profile, outstanding initial scientific achievements and extraordinary potential for their further academic career. Universität Regensburg offers the prospect, upon positive tenure evaluation, of transferring to a permanent position as W2 grade professor with the legal status civil servant for life (Beamtenverhältnis auf Lebenszeit). The requirements for the tenure evaluation can be found at https://go.uni-regensburg.de/tt-satzung.

We are looking for applicants (m/f/d) with a distinctive profile in the digital humanities and a background in computer science, information science, or digital humanities. They should be acquainted with the specific methodological challenges in the digital humanities (e.g. distant reading, distant viewing, digital heritage). They should be ready to engage in co-operations with different disciplines in the humanities. Experiences with research projects and the acquisition of external funding are expected, as well.

Applicants will be ready to participate in existing degree program related to digital humanities (Master of Arts in Digital Humanities, Master of Arts in Public History and Cultural Transmission, additional relevant modules in other degree programs).

Prerequisites for taking up the position are, in accordance with Art. 14 Bavarian University Staff Act (BayHSchPG), alongside the general conditions from public sector employment law, a completed university degree, pedagogic suitability, and particular aptitude for academic work, generally shown by a doctoral degree.

Applicants must have changed universities following the doctorate or have been academically active for at least two years somewhere other than Universität Regensburg before the application.

Universität Regensburg is particularly committed to reconciling family and working life (for more information, see http://www.uni-regensburg.de/chancengleichheit). To fulfill the equality directive and increase the number of female professors, we explicitly encourage applications from qualified women.

In case of essentially similar suitability, applicants with severe disabilities will be preferentially selected.

The prerequisites for appointment under civil servant law are based on the provisions of the Bavarian Public Service Code (BayBG) and the Bavarian University Staff Act (BayHSchPG).

Applications containing the normal documents (resume, certificates, list of publications) should be submitted, exclusively electronically to the Dean of the Faculty of Languages, Literature, and Cultures (fakultaet.slk@ur.de).

By 15th October 2021

Information on data protection can be found at https://www.uni-regensburg.de/datenschutz/.
This is the English translation of a German job advertisement published by the Universität Regensburg at https://go.uni-regensburg.de/stellen-professuren. Only the original German text is legally binding.