

Call for Participation to all Researchers at UR

Regensburg Forum for Sustainability 2026

Friday, June 12, 2026 (whole day event)

After two successful events in previous years, we are continuing our efforts to strengthen a network of researchers working on sustainability-related topics. This year, we place particular emphasis on fostering connections among early-career scholars. We therefore especially invite PhD students, postdoctoral researchers, and non-tenured faculty to express their interest in presenting sustainability-focused research. Our goal is to offer engaging presentation formats and ample opportunities for meaningful networking. Of course, all UR researchers with an interest in sustainability topics are warmly invited and encouraged to attend.

Potential Formats:

- Presentations
- Flash Talks
- Posters
- Networking formats

All researchers interest in participating and, if applicable, presenting their research (title and abstract required), please respond to the call until April 26, 2026 by completing the online form: <https://s2survey.net/forum-sustainability>
